

Abstract

An overpressure valve (10) for a packaging container is disposed on the inside (2) of the packaging material comprising the packaging container. The overpressure valve (10) comprises a base plate (12), a diaphragm (13), and a connecting element (14). The 5 overpressure valve (10) is relatively simple in construction and can be produced economically.